ABOUT THE LOCAL GROUP

In the Latin American (Latam) region, two Local Groups work together to foster food safety in the region: the South Latam Local Group founded in 2015 and the Mexico Local Group founded in 2013. The South Latam Local Group is formed by teams in three countries: Argentina, Chile and Brazil.

GFSI's South Latam and Mexico Local Groups focus efforts on improving food safety practices while increasing consumer confidence in food safety. This is done by fostering collaboration between retailers and manufacturers and implementing and promoting GFSI's global objectives and activities in the Latam region.

Local Groups support GFSI's objective to share knowledge and promote a harmonised approach to managing and improving food safety across continents. The Local Groups from Latam bring together local food safety experts to work collaboratively on local food safety issues. While sharing the same mission as GFSI, the Latam Local Groups have three strategic priorities:

- Increased awareness of GFSI's focus on harmonisation and its recognised certification programmes.
- Capability building for small and medium enterprises through the Global Markets Programme.
- Public-Private Partnerships by working together with regulators and government entities to promote local food safety and harmonise local/international standards with GFSI's benchmarking requirements.
